

USING MORPHO SNOWSHOES

1/ Untighten ankle strap (loosen Buckle strap completely) and toe strap so as to insert your boots and to adjust the heel thrust of articulated binding plate to your boot size. see fig.2

2/ Place the toe of your boot against the front part of the articulated binding plate, inside the toe strap. see fig.3

3/ Adjust the heel thrust to the proper size of your boot using the morpholock system. see Fig.2:

3/a-raise the size adjust lever with the help of rubber tab and move the heel thrust on the binding to the proper size of your boot: the heel of your boot must touch the back of the heel thrust for perfect maintaining of the boot while snowshoeing

3/b-when size is correctly adjusted release the rubber tab: the heel thrust is then locked in the binding slots thanks to the teeth of the adjust lever

4/While your boot inside the straps: start tightening the toe strap firmly by pulling the strap through the two holes quick buckle. Due to the flexible material of the binding front your boot perfectly fits the binding

5/ Tighten the ankle strap firmly by pulling the strap through the two holes quick buckle around your boot, until you feel firmly tightened. see fig.3

6/ Snowshoeing: the articulated binding plate is free from snowshoe base when going flat, traverse, downhill or uphill

7/ After use, untighten ankle strap first: pull up the extremity of the quick buckle and loosen the strap. Untighten toe strap: pull up the extremity of the quick buckle and loosen the strap. see fig 3. Remove your boot.

ALWAYS rinse snowshoes with water and brush to remove mud and debris after every use.

USER TIPS AND TECHNIQUES

Morpho snowshoes don't have a right or left snowshoe. You can wear MORPHO snowshoes on either foot. MORPHO recommends to place the ankle and toe strap buckles on the outside of the foot so as to tighten ankle and toe straps in the easiest way.

Kneeling on one knee is the best position to use when putting on the snowshoes. This gives you the best grip and leverage for tightening the straps.

Always pull the straps snug and make sure your foot is firmly tightened

Avoid snowshoeing on rock or concrete, which causes excess wear:

Take off snowshoes until you are back on snow
